Bruner has been both thorough and fair, and has written a book that combines scholarly research with constructive commentary on the life and mission of the contemporary Church.

'Running The Race To Win' is a book about developing a deeper understanding of discipleship and developing a deeper relationship with Christ. It does not matter if you are a businessperson, schoolteacher, nurse, athlete, computer technician, student etc. you are called to be a disciple and to make disciples. The contemporary church has many times neglected the original command laid down by Christ Himself and for this reason discipleship seems to be a radical message. However, for the church to fulfill its mission we must once again return to this radical call. The word radical comes from the Latin word radix meaning the root of things. Radical discipleship is simply a call to return to biblical foundations. Biblical foundations are at the root of discipleship since a disciple is one who has been instructed in the foundational teachings of Christ.

In Understanding the Holy Spirit, author and psychologist Dr. Brenda Rambo presents a comprehensive description of the function and purpose of the Holy Spirit and the role He has played in biblical and modern history. This book supplies readers who are hungry for a greater understanding of the Holy Spirit and His gifts with a clear and Scripture-based explanation of how the most overlooked person of the Trinity can be a valuable source of power for the believer and a gateway to experiencing an enhanced relationship with God the Father and Jesus, His Son.

"Prayer is so great and necessary a part of religion that every degree of assistance in it will be always acceptable to pious minds. The inward and spiritual performance of this worship is taught us in many excellent discourses, but a regular scheme of prayer as a Christian exercise or a piece of holy skill, has been much neglected. The form, method and expression, together with other aspects of it, such as voice and gesture, have been so little treated that few Christians have any clear or distinct knowledge of them. Yet all these have all too powerful an influence upon the soul in its most spiritual exercises, and both nature and Scripture provide various directions about them. Now while institutes of logic and rhetoric abound that teach us to reason aright and to speak well among men, why should the rules of speaking to God be so little taught?"

Discover how the Holy Spirit's vital and unique role in God's design for the New Testament Church impacts the stewardship of our life. Whether our material resources, talents and abilities, or time, the Christian needs to depend totally upon the permanently indwelling Holy Spirit for direction and enablement. Is tithing as practiced in the Old Testament the norm for Christian giving today? Discover God's New Testament principles, precepts, and directions as they related to the Christian's stewardship responsibilities, and how they are distinct from God's plan for Israel. Learn how a consistently literal approach to Scripture helps us clearly define biblical stewardship and identify our distinct stewardship obligations during this Church age.

This volume contains twenty-three of James D. G. Dunn's best shorter essays--produced over a span of twenty-five years and grouped here according to theme--on different aspects of New Testament pneumatology.

In fifteen thorough chapters David Ewert surveys the whole range of New Testament authors to discover what they have to say on the Holy Spirit and what this means for the life of the believer and for the church. To add another book on the Holy Spirit to the great number available is a daunting undertaking, the author admits. One can only hope that by ordering the biblical materials in a new way, familiar truths will shine with new luster. Perhaps by bringing the relevant biblical passages to bear on the life of the church in our day old truths can be seen in a new light. The material is organized in three parts: (1) The Promise of the Spirit, considering all the passages of the Gospels that speak of the Holy Spirit; (2) The Coming of the Spirit, dealing with the Pentecostal outpouring of the Spirit in the book of Acts and the continual overflow of the Spirit in the expansion of the church; and (3) The Spirit in the Life of the Believer, studying what the apostles have to say about the Holy Spirit in the epistles. Many have instinctively sensed that the teaching of the New Testament on the Holy Spirit is a key that unlocks many doors, the author notes. Jesus likened the Spirit to the wind, with its mysterious and numinous character. Just as we can hear and feel the blowing of the wind, by God's grace we can experience the presence and the power of the Spirit, if we are willing to get in the path of God's wind.

In this short book Dr. Stephen Zemanek offers a simple examination of the biblical text itself regarding spiritual gifts. Within these pages the reader will not find a specific denominational position. Nor does Dr. Zemanek try to push a personal agenda. This is simply a short book providing a basic platform for discussions on spiritual gifts in the 21st century. Whether or not you believe spiritual gifts are still in operation we can agree that the 1st century church saw them in operation. This book is written in three sections: -What the Bible teaches about the spiritual gifts coming to an end following first century (this will be the shortest section). -What the Bible teaches about the operation of spiritual gifts within the church. -The distinction between corporate spiritual gifts and personal baptism. Regardless of your personal opinion on spiritual gifts in the 21st century you will enjoy this examination by Dr. Stephen Zemanek.
